COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The second meeting of the Budget Committee was held on Jan. 21st with the Supt. of Schools and School Committee in attendance. The entire session was spent discussing the school budget.

The third and final session will be held on Jan. 28th. Several articles not already acted on will be considered. Recommendations of the Budget Committee will be published as soon as their work is completed.

Considerable amount of material for the town report is already in the hands of the printer. It is expected that the balance will be in their hands by the end of next week which will insure early distribution of the annual report.

Having sufficient manholes in a sewer system was illustrated last week when a report was received that the sewer line to Primary School was plugged. A manhole was installed on the Philbrook Street line in 1958. It was a simple procedure to remove the cover and rod out the line through to the school building. Had the manhole not been there to facilitate the work it would have been necessary to close the school until the sewer was opened.

Sincerely,
Harold L. Bean

The Androscoggin Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution again offers a chance to a senior girl at Gould to participate in their D.A.R. Good Citizen's Award Contest.

GOULD ACADEMY

Bausch & Lomb Award

In the United States, the annual Bausch and Lomb Honor Science Award is recognized as evidence of superior scientific aptitude. The 1960 winner of the award at Gould Academy is Miss Caroline Seavey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Seavey of Blue Hill.

The Science Award—a bronze medal—will be presented at June graduations in almost 7,000 schools. Winners of this award are eligible to compete for Science Scholarships, sponsored by the Bausch & Lomb Optical Co., at the University of Rochester. From two to four scholarships are provided annually. Stipends are based on need and have a total value of $9,600. The award winner in each school is usually selected in January to provide opportunity for early application for science scholarship competition.

The Bausch & Lomb Science Award and Scholarship programs have been officially approved by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

Gould Teams Face Tough Jobs Ahead

On Friday, January 29, Gould Academy plays host to South Paris High in a double-header. The J.V.'s open at 6:30 with the Husky aspirants trying to avenge an earlier beating. The varsity, too, is facing the task of upsetting the Cardinals who defeated them by sixteen points at Paris. The visitors had four players scoring in double figures in the first Paris-Gould match and it will be a tough task for the Academy five to come through with a victory in this one.

Next Tuesday, Feb. 2, Gould travels to the Norway Armory to meet Mechanic Falls High in a return match. The Wildcats completely outplayed Gould last week at Bethel and should come through with another victory on Tuesday.

COUNTRY FLAVOR

OVER THE HUMP

A countryman respects the ground hog's ability to foretell the weather. If, on the second of the month the woodchuck sees his shadow, there is no question that we shall have six more weeks of winter weather. It is regrettable that so many citizens are skeptical of this animal's ability to prognosticate the weather.

After the first sheet is torn from the big feed store calendar on the kitchen wall, a countryman has an opinion concerning the high point of the winter. Just when we will get over the hump and headed down to spring, depends on February's moods.

Official long-range meteorologists concoct charts and draw graphs. They make wavy lines and plot curves of varying degree. This is all to the good and gives a man something to study. But a farmer, who lives with the weather, knows that air currents are unpredictable.

Sometimes along toward the end of the second month, there is a severe cold spell and one of winter's worst storms. A blizzard howls down from northland tundras. Snow swirls over fields and piles in drifts against fences, barns and roadsides. Cold probing air infiltrates the house and ankle-chilling drafts slither across the floor.

But when the storm blows itself out and a bright sun shines in a clear blue sky, a man shovelling the path to the hen house suddenly looks up in the warming temperature. He hears the sweet two-toned spring song of the chickadee; he hears a blue jay bugling as it flashes across the orchard.

SHADY DEALERS BILK G'S, MAGAZINE WARNS

Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, in an exclusive article in the current issue warns that servicemen overseas are falling prey to unethical business practices of a small group of Americans.

The magazine points that can men operating overseas represent but a small fraction of American business, but notes that their activities have a powerful effect. Inexperienced servicemen, with more money than they are accustomed to and not much to spend it on, have been bilked on sales of cars to be delivered on arrival at ports, stock in investment companies not registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission, questionable insurance policies—even sets of encyclopedias and $60 Bibles.

The article notes, for example, that servicemen can buy new American automobiles from the factory through authorized local dealers abroad at discounts of 15% to 20%. But many servicemen, who do not feel at home with native dealers, turn instead to fast-talking American salesmen who offer a "better deal" and usually wind up paying more for their cars. If the cars ever materialize at all.

The GI who dreams of setting down once he's out of service is a perfect target for unethical food salesmen. Changing Times points out that while a mutual fund could be a good investment for a serviceman, too many of them are falling for the pitch of salesman who offer smaller, less well-known funds whose performance records usually are average or below. Salesmen for one such company—International Planefor, Inc.—have been barred from all Air Force and Army bases in Europe, the article notes.

At present, with the exception of insurance programs, which are protected by government regulations, policing of sales policies is left to base commanders who bar questionable salesmen only to have them set up shop just outside the gates. From there on the GI is on his own, and for him the editors of the magazine sound this advice:

To buy a car, see a franchised dealer even if he is a foreigner. There is no advantage in having a car from a salesman representing a dealer in the States. Never make a down payment on a used car sight unseen. Don't check to a dealer on a lay-away plan.

To invest in a mutual fund, investigate these funds with

MAN'S RECIPE

ASA'S EASY BROWN SUGAR COOKIES

Half a century ago on the farm, Mother always kept two or three kinds of cookies on hand. You young folks don't remember this, but in the days of long underwear and homemade bread, lard came in five pound pails and it was in these lard pails that Mother kept cookies.

With three conscientious, younger sisters and no brothers, I had a difficult time, but outwitting those young female wardens, probably helped me to develop traits of initiative and persistence. Not only did I need cookies, but Old Jerry, my favorite horse, was also fond of them.

I don't pretend this is the same cookie that Mother made, but it is as near I can come to it. Use one cup butter or margarine, three fourths cup brown sugar, two cups flour, one fourth teaspoon allspice, one eighth teaspoon nutmeg, two tablespoons orange juice, one third cup white sugar, one third teaspoon cinnamon, four dashes cloves.

Cream butter and brown sugar. Sift in the flour with the allspice and nutmeg. Mix in orange juice and blend well.

Chill the dough for an hour in the refrigerator; then roll out on floured board and cut out cookies.

Make a topping of the white sugar, cinnamon and cloves, and sprinkle this on the cookies.

Bake on ungreased sheets at 350 about 10 minutes, or until done.

There is a touch of spring in the air. "We're over the hump," he thinks to himself.

CONSERVATION WORKSHOP FOR ADULTS AT BRYANT POND IN JUNE

Something new has been added to the regular summer session of Maine's Conservation School this year. The innovation is a one-week adult course for non-teachers to provide background material in the field of conservation of our natural resources. During the regular summer session, teachers attend the school for academic credit.

Any interested person may apply for the one-week course, which is slated for the week of June 6-10 or the following week, or both weeks if the demand should warrant a double session. Subjects to be covered include water, forestry, soil and geology, fish and wildlife, and outdoor recreation.

Professor Robert Miller of Gorham State Teachers' College will be the instructor, with aid from specialists of various resource agencies. Living accommodations are provided at the Freeman-Waterhouse campus which also provides many permanent exhibits of interest on its 150 acres.

Requests for reservations or additional information should be sent to Franklin A. Downie, Director, Maine's Conservation School, Room 612, State Office Building, Augusta, Maine.

LIFE LINES
by Col. Ralph T. Miller of The Salvation Army

DON'T FOOL YOURSELF
That is easy to say; isn't it? Don't fool yourself.

But not to fool oneself is a pretty difficult matter.

If life were only black and white, it wouldn't be hard to decide between right and wrong. But for most of us, life is a number of shades of gray, and we can't always tell which shade is the lightest!

Did you read about that bank robber, who was brought into court, and who brazenly told the judge that he was a benefactor of society? His reasoning was this: The bank didn't suffer, because it was insured. The insurance company didn't suffer, because an occasional robbery helped to frighten more banks into buying insurance. So they really made money on it!

Not many of us would go that far. But it is certainly easy for us to defend our actions, when they aren't quite white. I remember one big temptation that came to me. Our Salvation Army corps needed a new building. We had a number of possible sites in mind. The owner of one of them came to me, and said, "My building is just as good as the others you have in mind, isn't it?"

I assured him that it was. Then he said, "Now, I'll tell you what I'll do. If this goes through a Real Estate broker we'd have to pay him five hundred dollars. Why don't I pay you that five hundred dollars, and we'll close the deal?"

What a temptation that was, for at that very moment I needed five hundred dollars for a

Be still and know that I am God... (Psalm 46:10).

Often when we feel that we have "lost touch" with our Heavenly Father, it may be that we have been talking to Him too much, telling Him what we want and beseeching His mercy and His love, when all we have to do to receive it is to be silent, and listen.

Laws, Mary Lowell, Becky and Rachel Keniston, Gertrude Waldron, Mary Morrill, Patty, Sandy, and Bobby Herzog.

The Men's Brotherhood met Tuesday evening for dinner at the Methodist Church served by James Brown, Stanley Davis, and Earl Paine. At the business meeting a nominating committee was appointed for officers for the coming year: John Greenleaf, Stanley Davis and Richard Hamilton. The Executive Committee is to look into the matter of recreational equipment for the young people. The committee for next meeting is Randal Stevens and Kenneth Brooks. Following dinner and business meeting the remainder of the evening was spent on two projects: painting the ceiling in the Annex and laying a wood floor on the room connecting the Church and Annex.

MUCH MORE WINTER DRIVING AHEAD — STATE POLICE WARN

"It isn't necessary to wait until Mr. Groundhog makes his prediction concerning the length of the current winter season," the State Police say. "We can be practically certain that we shall have at least six more weeks of winter driving hazards, regardless of whether or not the hibernating woodchuck sees his shadow on February 2nd."

The enforcement agency pointed out that, at any time day or night in February or early March, we can expect Old Man Winter to get rough. Oftentimes, these late-season storms are the most severe of the entire winter season.

The police advised drivers:

1. Go slow on ice and snow.
2. Keep your windshield clear.
3. Maintain a good margin between cars.
4. Use pumping action in braking.
5. Use tires with good treads.
6. Have chains ready for use when needed.
7. Remember that accidents are caused by people—not by the weather, not by icy roads, not by the snow that falls.

perfectly legitimate cause! It wasn't easy for me to say, "Sorry, sir. But I can't be a party to any such transaction." No act is so wrong, but what it can be made to seem right.

TODAY'S Meditation

Thursday, January 28

Read Psalm 25:1-10.
[We] speaking the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ. (Ephesians 4:15.)

I WATCHED my daughter take her first steps alone. She faltered across the floor from one firm support to another.

No one said that she knew all there was to know about walking. Now, after months and years of practice, she walks and runs. She has walking ability far beyond what she knew that day when she took her first steps.

It is a thrill when a new Christian takes his first step of faith by accepting Jesus Christ as his Saviour and Lord. No one would say that this new Christian knows all there is to know about walking with Christ. Months and years of practice in being His disciple are necessary to help him walk better. Prayer, Bible study, witnessing, sharing—all are new steps in Christian living. Every Christian can ever be learning more and more by walking with Christ.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, help us learn how to walk with Thee. Forgive us when we falter, because of our weakness or careless way of living. Grant that we may not become discouraged by the slowness of our spiritual growth. May we walk more and more as Jesus walked, taking steps of faith with Him. In His name. Amen.

Thought For The Day

BETHEL P. T. A.

P. T. A. met at Crescent Park School January 19.

A list of needed materials for the schools was compiled. Mr. Christie will have an approximate price list by next meeting. This will be one of the P. T. A. projects for the year.

Mr. Christie reported that books were always needed for the school libraries and the Town would not be buying any this year.

It was suggested and voted in favor of that the men attending P. T. A. would be counted as two for the attendance banner.

The attendance banner was won by the second grade.

Door prize donated by Sue Fiske was won by Emily Saunders.

Betty Tebbets introduced Julian Israelson, who is State Chairman of the Polio Fund Raising Drive, as guest speaker.

He spoke very interestingly and convincingly on the need for the drive, telling us several cases where our dimes had helped polio stricken persons.

He stated that there was still a very great need for our dimes to cover expense of Salk Vaccine which many people still have not used and also for the New Research Program.

A very interesting film of Polio and other crippling diseases was shown.

Refreshments were served by 3rd grade mothers.

Nature has given us two cars, two eyes, and but one tongue, to the end that we should hear and see more than we speak. - Socrates.

FARMERS HOME ADM. LENT AREA FARMERS $387,010 DURING 1959

Farmers in Oxford and Androscoggin counties borrowed $387,010 from the Farmers Home Administration during the calendar year ending December 31, 1959, reports Elwyn R. Morrow, County Supervisor, located at South Paris.

Collections for the year amounted to $248,682. This compares with $263,305 collected in 1958.

During the past year Farmers Home Administration borrowers used approximately $210,460 in operating loans to pay for fertilizer, seed, feed, fuel, and other items needed to carry out their regular farming operations. These loans also included funds to buy livestock, and machinery needed to expand or modernize and put their farming programs on a sounder basis for present day competition.

In addition to funds for operating purposes, farm families in Oxford and Androscoggin counties borrowed $176,550 for real estate investments during the past year. Some families used real estate loans to improve farms, enlarge farms of inadequate size, or refinance farm debts. Others built or modernized farm houses and essential farm buildings, carried out better soil conservation practices, and effected needed land developments.

Besides making and servicing loans, Morrow visits borrowers' farms throughout the year to help with farm management problems. He estimated he made 455 farm visits during the year, that he held 22 county committee meetings at which time 85 applications for loans were reviewed and 30 farms were inspected by the committee.

Eligible applicants are those who have or can obtain land, labor, and other resources necessary for good farming, but who cannot adequately finance their operations with credit available to them from other lenders. The supervisor also helps applicants to obtain credit needs from other local lenders through the FIA system of credit counseling. Credit is extended by the Farmers Home Administration only when it is not available from other sources.
